What does the project involve?

The LEAF project is funded by the government Department for Energy and Climate Change (DECC) and focuses on research and action to improve home energy efficiency. The project will be completed by March 31st 2012.

It involves:

- ✧ A study of 20 local homes with open chimneys, measuring the effect of installing chimney balloons on air flow and potential energy savings.
- ✧ supplying free chimney balloons and energy saving products to households in Staveley with Ings Parish (subject to availability)
- ✧ giving free independent energy advice to households
- ✧ attending 5 public events and producing a video and leaflet to demonstrate chimney balloons
- ✧ working with the Staveley Village Association and local architects EcoARC to look at ways of reducing energy use in the village hall

Areas our advice will cover:

Our advisor's are local people trained to give independent advice about draught-proofing, moisture control, insulation, and grants currently available. We will refer you to further sources of information if we do not know the answer to your question.
